

License Agreement

1. This is a legal agreement ("the License") between Stuart Udall ("the Developer") and yourself ("the Purchaser"). By installing or attempting to install the software bundled with the License ("the Software"), the Purchaser agrees to be bound by the terms and conditions of the License. If you do not agree to be bound by the terms and conditions of the License, you may neither install or use the Software.
2. The Software is licensed, not sold. The License grants the Purchaser a perpetual, non-exclusive, non-transferable, limited-use licence to operate the supplied version of the Software on a single microprocessor only.
3. The License also grants the Purchaser free telephone- or email-based support for the Software, provided by the Developer for a period of 12 months from the date of purchase, between the hours of 9AM and 5PM, Monday to Friday (excepting public holidays). Additional support (for example, on-site support) may be provided at the Developer's discretion, however this support may be charged for, at the Developer's stated hourly support rate.
4. The License does not entitle the Purchaser to new or updated versions of the Software, which, if available, are sold separately.
5. The Purchaser is not permitted to copy, distribute, sell, rent, lease, lend, or repackage the Software, or through action or inaction, allow same or similar to occur. A single copy of the Software may be made for backup purposes, however.
6. The Purchaser is not permitted to disassemble, decompile or reverse-engineer the Software, or otherwise, obtain sourcecode from the Software, or base any derivative work upon sourcecode, howsoever obtained, from the Software, or through action or inaction, allow same or similar to occur.
7. Although the Software has undergone extensive testing, the Software is supplied "as is", without warranty of any kind. No warranty is either expressed or implied as to the suitability or fitness of the Software for any particular application or environment, including, but not limited to, circumstances where there is danger of injury, death, and/or financial loss.
8. The Purchaser agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Developer for any damages arising directly or indirectly under the License or from the use, misuse, or inability to use the Software.
9. The Developer shall not be held responsible for the actions of any third-party programs or components utilised by the Software.
10. The License is effective until terminated. Should the Purchaser be in breach of the License, the Developer may immediately revoke the License, thereby terminating this Agreement. Notice of such a termination must be provided by the Developer in writing, and posted by registered mail to the Purchaser's principal place of business, at the time of termination. The Purchaser may terminate this Agreement at any time under any circumstances, without providing any notice to the Developer. In the event of any termination of this Agreement under any circumstances, all copies of the Software in the possession of the Purchaser must immediately be destroyed by the Purchaser.
11. Should any particular provision of the License be found invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not be lessened or impaired.
12. The License shall be governed by the laws of England.
13. The License constitutes the complete and entire agreement between the Developer and the Purchaser with respect to the use of a single copy of the Software by the Purchaser. No variation may be made to the License without the prior written consent of the Developer.